ASSISTED LIVING - OVERVIEW

What is an assisted living facility?

Assisted living is probably the most broadly defined form of senior living available today.

An assisted living Facility (ALF) is a special combination of housing, personalized supportive services and health care designed to meet the needs - both scheduled and unscheduled - of those seniors who need help with activities of daily living (ADL), such as bathing, dressing, eating and monitoring medications.

Assisted living is generally for individuals who can no longer manage on their own but who do not need the intensive, 24-hour complex medical services of traditional long-term program.

PRIMARY SERVICES & PAYMENTS

- Three delicious, well-balanced meals served daily
- Snacks available throughout the day
- Daily social activities
- Trained staff available 24 hours, 7 days a week
- Therapeutic rehabilitation
